BASEBALL GLORY FOR BOSTON AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT

NOT FOR NEW YORK. First Game of Double Header Won by the Champions, and an Immense Crowd on Hand to See-Errors Costly for Griffith's Men-Locals Take Second.

The American League championship stays in Boston, and, incidentally, the world's championship, since the New York Nationals will not test their strength against Collins's conquerors. The Bostons retained their position as the premier baseball team of the country by beating their most formidable rivals, the New Yorks, in the first game at American League Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 3 to 2, and the game was as close as the score. In the second game the New Yorks shut the Bostons out in a ten inning battle, but the first settled the pennant's abiding place. The second game was therefore but n aftermath but there was no cessation of effort on that account, and a splendid tribute to popularity of American League ball and a splendid evidence of appreciation of the hard fight made by Griffith's men were to be found in the act that the bigger part of the immense crowd remained throughout the American League Park held its banner crowd. An attendance of proportion seldom surpassed in the history of baseball outpourings filled the big stands to overflowing. It became necessary to atretch ropes across n front of the right field bleachers, and restrained by these and out in the grass several thousand found elbow room not to be had in the congested stands. Along the right field fence also were a few scattering thou-sands. Somebody in the grand stand dug up a ladder, and there was a rush for the roof as a vantage point, but the folks up there were chased down in a hurry. The crowd was well handled and there was very little fuss or confusion

The rooting of the different factions was something strenuous. Naturally New York-ers predominated, but the Hub was ably represented by a strong lunged delegation in the left wing of the grand stand. Between the rival camps things sizzled and seethed. The Bostonians had a band with them, and their pagn of victory was the famous "Tes-sie." In a way the Hub horde was hoist with its own petard by this ditty. The New Yorkers improvised megaphones out of cardboard placards and sang "Tessie" as fervently as did the Bostonians when things broke As a mascot the Boston brigade had an

"Dixie" the old chap capered nimbly on the roof of the Boston team's bench. When the band played "Old Black Joe" he moved back and forth with measured tread. Attached to a broom which the Bostonians had was a banner with this strange device: Mr. Brush, we're on plush, Where are you? Give us a game; don't be vain; One or two.

One or two.

The whole afternoon was one of stir, hurrah, bustle, excitement, thrills and exuberance such as are to be found at sporting contests of unusual importance. The size of the attendance was a distinct rebuke to those who pretended to believe that it was on the cards for the New Yorks to win. One of these individuals in the grand stand who kept telling how the New Yorks were bound to win because it was so arranged, hurried away after the first game. The Boston players were as happy as schoolboys after their victory and danced around like a lot of collegians.

The Boston club owner, John J. Taylor, is to issue a formal challenge to the New York Nationals for a series of games, and just to show that it is not a box office scheme on the part of the American League he will suggest that the players divide all the gate receipts. Several of the New York National players were at the games yesterday and went down to shake hands with the New York American players at the latter's bench before the game.

The big left hander, Puttmann, pitched a gill-edged game in the second joust. He had perfect control, and only four hits were made off him. This game was well played, but not exciting. A man in the left field bleachers started a rumpus, but was squelched by the police. The New Yorks won in the tenth on Conroy's hit and good base running. Conroy kept on to third on McGuire's out at first, and scored on Lachance's wild throw to head him off at third. The Boston rooters marched across the field behind their band after the game, and the New Yorkers gave three, rousing cheers for Griffith and his team.

"Better luck next year?" they cried. Thus wound up the season, the championship not decided until the final day. The score:

made in the nine years of the fixture. There were fourteen strokes between the first and the thirty-second score, as against precisely the same margin between the first sixteen at Brookline in 1902. The relative improvement was shown, too, by thirteen finishing under 100, as well as by two young home trained girls breaking even with the famouag olfer from Great Britain.

The first pair off were Miss Rage Schwarzwalder of Dyker Meadow and Mrs. Elliott Rodgers of Allegheny at 10 o'clock sharp in the morning. It took them three and a half hours to make the round, and as they finished the last pair out, Miss Harriet Curtis and Miss E. S. Porter, were playing the first hole.

White frocks and shirtwaists, and suits of the sort in light colors, made many a pretty picture on the green turf. Variations were Mrs. Milton C. Work in heliotrope, Miss Maud Wetmore in a suit of dark cerise, and Miss Helen Carrington of New Haven in blue serge with a sailor collar. A dozen or so wore blue or gray skirts with the comfortable silk waists. Miss Dod wore a dark blue frock and a figured light blue waist, with a cap pinned on her dark hair, a becoming and businesslike attire.

Miss Dod's style is not as impressive as that of Miss Rhona Adair, the British champion, who played at Merion last fall, but the women say she is a chummier sort to golf with. Beneath Miss Adair's dimples was a very keen and steadfast desire to win—the golfing version of the hand of silk and the grip of steel—but Miss Dod, say her opponents, is lacking in the match winning spirit and quite the pleasantestrival to be imagined At the finish of her tee shots Miss Dod cuts the follow through somewhat and instead she gives a jumping jab—if the term is allowable—in getting away the ball. The effect is exactly like the drop of Findlay Douglas's at the finish of his drive. She plays the iron shots cleverly, taking a grip far down the shaft, and puts in the orthodox way with a putting cleek. The general effect of Miss Dod's style is of symmetry and sound principles. LEXINGTON, Oct. 10.—The classic Walnut Hall Farm Cup was the magnet which drew 8,000 persons to the meeting here to-day, and the race produced one of the greatest contests in the history of the event. It took six heats to decide it and not one was captured by the winner without a struggle. Redwood came to the front and won the last two heats and the race, carrying to the stable of J. A. Bennett of Pittsburg, Pa., the handsome silver oup donated by L. V. Harkness.

The weather was warm and cloudy and the track a little slow on account of the heavy dust. The Broncho won her second race of the meeting in the 2:12 class pace in straight heats. She clipped three seconds of her record, reducing It to 2:07. Darkness caught the last race, the 2:12 trot, and it went over until to-morrow, after the favorite, Mainland, and Millard Sanders each had won two heats.

Miss Maud Wetmore played with Miss Dod, with Mrs. E. A. Manice, champion of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, as her caddie, counsellor and friend. Several professionals served as caddies; Aleck Smith of Nassau with Mrs. Polhemus, Will Tucker of Ardsley with Miss Vanderhoff and Donald Ball of Ekwanok with Miss Mabel Higgins. Ormsby McCammon caddied for his wife, and some other amateurs worked their way, including A. W. Tillinghast, but the majority of the players relied on the regular caddie boys. Much to the surprise of turfmen, who had been led to believe that there could be no hitch, it was definitely announced yester-day that there would be no match race next Saturday in which Sysonby, Tradition and Oiseau would face the barrier to settle the two-year-old championship. It turned out that after due deliberation Carroll Reid, trainer of Oiseau, informed J. E. Greener, the owner, that as the Ormus colt would undoubtedly start in the Champagne Stake on Wednesday, it would be asking too much of him to indulge in another hard race on Saturday. Then, too, it was stated that James R. Keene had decided that six furlongs should be the distance if the race was run at Morris Park, but that he would consen to seven furlongs if it was run at Jamaica. Sydney Paget held out for seven furlongs and Morris Park; so all negotiations were declared of after the races yesterday after-

TRAVERS BLAMED FOR WAITING TOO LONG WITH THE COLT.

Gerantum and Alan-a-Dalc-Gro, a 30 Jockey Travers was generally blamed for the defeat of Wotan in the Westchester High-weight Handicap yesterday at Morris Park. The distance was six and a half furlongs. Withers course, and the race was run over heavy track. Travers was criticised for waiting too long before making his run at the end, but was beaten an eyelesh accord ing to the official verdict of the judges. Joe Yeager's Leonidas was backed down to 3 to 1 in spite of the fact that he took up 125 pounds. As Wotan was in receipt of twenty-seven pounds from him the wise money made the price against Wotan drop from 5 to 1 to threes. Lady Uncas showed the way for nearly half a mile, when Collector Jessup, with 120 pounds on his back, went to the front and looked the winner at the last furlong pole. But Wotan, who had not been far away, meanwhile, was soon challenging under Travers's persuasion, and at the wire it looked like a dead heat. New York, a 30 to 1, shot, was third, four lengths away. Leonidas could not handle the weight in the going.

Marvellous Remedies Which Surely Cure.

Men Need Not Suffer from Nervous Debility.

An immense audience of men greeted the famous Dr. J. A. Greene, of 101 Fifth Ave. New York City, proprietor of that renowned blood and nerve remedy. Dr. Greene's Nervura, in Cooper Union last night and listened with rapt attention to one of the most power, and cooper Union last night and listened with rapt attention to one of the most power ful lectures ever delivered to men.

Men who formerly possessed healthy bodies and strong and steady nerves wonder at a feeling of exhaustion, lassitude and lack of inclination for physical and mental exertion. There is now only a sense of weakness, languor, dulness and exhaustion. The nerve strength seems impaired: their endurance and power to work, read or study is diminished. The thoughts wander and there is inability to fix the mind for any length of time upon one subjects, with this there is an extremely nervous and irritable condition, a dull, cloudy sensation, a sense of apprehension, often accompanied by disagreeable feelings in the head and eyes. There may be a derangement of the digestive organs, with a gradual failing of strength, and weakness, weariness and pain in the back. There is often a bad taste in the mouth mornings, the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired, and there is frequent dizziness. Persons thus affected are often difficient, despondent, and discouraged. The nerves become so weakened after a time that the least excitement or shock will flush the face, bring on a tremor or trembling, often attended by more or less palpitation of the heart.

This lecture will be magnificently and accurately illustrated by superb limelight dissolving pictures. The doctor will discuss that terrible disease, nervous debility, so common among men. Admission and seats in all parts of the house are free. No man should miss this lecture.

by more or less palpitation of the heart.

If you have these symptoms, or a portion of them, you are suffering from nervous debility, caused by an exhausted condition of the nerves and vital powers from overwork, excesses or indiscretion, which is slowly but surely sapping your strength, energies and life.

A debilitated man becomes disheartened and discouraged simply because he does not know what to do. He has been deceived so many times that he despairs of ever finding a cure. But remember that kind nature is forgiving. There are medicines to cure you, to save you from nervous prostration, insanity, paralysis, despair and death, and these glorious remedies Dr. Greene has discovered and uses in his enormous practice of restoring men to vigor and vitality. These wonderful restoratives will give back to the weakened and exhausted system the strength

Our aim in establishing this Harness store was to give faultless qualities in Riding and Driving Hequisites for less money than others ask. The fact that we sell for cash, never pay commissions and never give discounts, makes it quite easy for us to undersell all other stores that owe their existence to commissions, discounts and credit systems.
